About Us

iQx10 is a publisher of virtual reality and augmented virtual reality job skills games, for industries. We The company is in a partnership with the Global Cold Chain Alliance (GCCA) to develop an industry-based Job Skills Game, Webs, using immersive technologies.

Job Skills Games

Our games are based on Industry Standards Content and Company Specific Content, and are designed to be played on various platforms. Gamers develop and maintain requisite industry knowledge and skills, while being entertained. We develop our games by enlisting Pilot Partners. These are companies that are representative of their industries. They validate industry content used to develop our games, giving them needed credibility.

x10 Platform

Market changes occur, often without much notice. With our x10 Platform, using Data Science, we provide this dynamic benchmarking tool, empowering employees, employers, investors and government agencies with relevant metrics. Subscription plans are designed to cater to the human resources management needs of individuals, enterprises, investors and public agencies.
